

The Theme Park Glossary

Glossary

- ACE - American Coaster Enthusiasts - The biggest roller coaster club in the United States.
- ECC - European Coaster Club - The biggest roller coaster club in Europe.
- ERT - Exclusive Ride Time or Extended Ride Time - When the park has a certain ride open for a specific group of people (usually an enthusiast group or event) outside of usual park hours. Sometimes, parks will open a ride before stated park opening time for season pass holders.
- MCBR - Mid Course Brake Run - The brakes midway through a coaster. Used to increase the number of trains a coaster can run, which improves capacity. Designed so the train can come to a full stop in case of an emergency and still make it back to the station under its own power. Different from Trim Brakes.
- SLC - Suspended Looping Coaster - A term Vekoma uses for their inverted coasters.
- OTSR - Over The Shoulder Restraints - Restraints that come over your head to keep you secured in a coaster. Frequently (but not universally) found on coasters with inversions.
- SBNO - Standing But Not Operating - When a ride is standing but not operating for whatever reason. This could be due to neglect, abandonment, or because the park has future plans requiring extensive downtime of a ride.
- LIM - Linear Induction Motor - A type of launch system used by some coasters.
- LSM - Linear Synchronous Motor - A type of launch system used by some coasters.
- POV - Point of View - A video showing a first-person view of the ride.
- GP - General Public - People who are not coaster enthusiasts. Frequently used in a derogatory way by enthusiasts.
- Stacking - When a slow crew (or sometimes the slow general public) prevents a train from dispatching on time. This causes the other trains on the course to stack behind them on the brakes, which generally hurts capacity. Ideally, a train should be able to dispatch in the time it takes another train to traverse the course, but this rarely happens. Some amount of stacking is inevitable, but excessive stacking is a problem.
- Trim Brakes - Brakes throughout the course that scrub speed from the train. This is typically done to reduce maintenance costs or to keep G-forces at a certain level on a specific element of a coaster. Different from the MCBR.

- Block - Used to describe a section of track on the course of a roller coaster. Blocks are separated by brakes, lifts, stations, or other devices that enable a train to be stopped. Most coasters are designed to operate with only one train moving in each block at any time.
- Mega - A term some manufacturers use for their hyper-style coasters. Generally not used by enthusiasts.
- Hyper - Generally a coaster over 200 feet tall.
- Giga - Generally a coaster over 300 feet tall.
- Strata - Generally a coaster over 400 feet tall.
- Theming - Decorative and immersive design elements added to a ride or area of a park to create a specific atmosphere or story.
- Rollback - When a launched coaster fails to crest the top of its hill and rolls backward to the launch area. Often considered a rare and exciting event by enthusiasts.
- Inversion - Any point in a coaster's layout where riders are turned upside down.
- Pre-Lift - The section of track before the lift hill or launch section. Often features minor elements to build anticipation.
- Headchopper - A design feature where an object (such as a support beam or track) appears to come very close to riders' heads, creating a thrilling near-miss sensation.
- Airtime - The sensation of weightlessness or negative G-forces experienced when riders are lifted out of their seats.
- Floater Airtime - A gentle, sustained feeling of weightlessness.
- Ejector Airtime - A more intense, sudden feeling of being launched out of your seat.
- Valley - When a coaster train fails to complete its circuit and comes to a stop in a low point of the track. Requires evacuation or mechanical assistance to remove.
- Rattle - A term used to describe a rough or shaky ride experience, often caused by track wear or poor maintenance.
- Credit - A term used by enthusiasts to count a ride as part of their "coaster count." A single ride on a coaster qualifies as a credit.
- Clone - A coaster that is a copy of another design. Often found in multiple parks around the world.
- Wheel Seat - A seat located directly over the wheels of a train. Typically provides a rougher ride compared to other seats.
